

Jackson Public School DISTRICT

OFFICE OF THE SUPERINTENDENT

1000 ...

...

...

...

...

...

...

...

...

...

...

...

...

...

...

...

...

...

...

...

...

...

...

...

...

...

...

...

...

...

...

...

...

...

...

...

...

...

...

...

...

...

...

...

...

...

...

...

...

...

...

...

...

...

Building Strong

WELCOME TO THE NEW
MICHIGAN STATE UNIVERSITY

1000 S. ZEEB ROAD
EAST LANSING, MI 48824

MSU.EDU

MSU
1000 S. ZEEB ROAD
EAST LANSING, MI 48824

MSU
1000 S. ZEEB ROAD
EAST LANSING, MI 48824

MSU
1000 S. ZEEB ROAD
EAST LANSING, MI 48824

MSU
1000 S. ZEEB ROAD
EAST LANSING, MI 48824

MSU
1000 S. ZEEB ROAD
EAST LANSING, MI 48824

MSU
1000 S. ZEEB ROAD
EAST LANSING, MI 48824

MSU
1000 S. ZEEB ROAD
EAST LANSING, MI 48824

MSU
1000 S. ZEEB ROAD
EAST LANSING, MI 48824

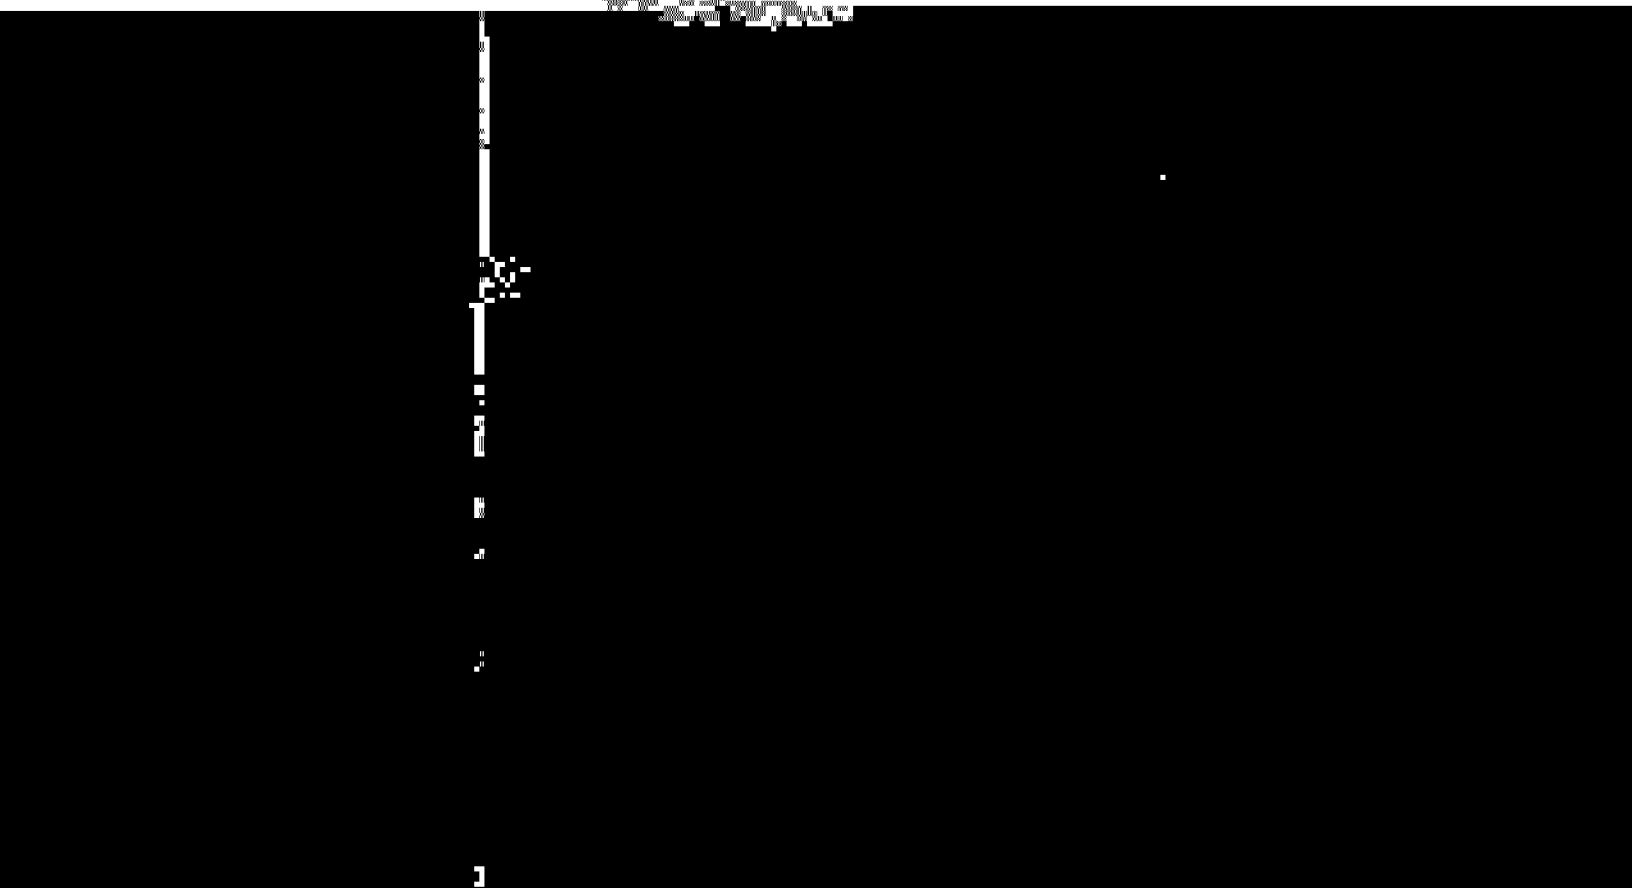

MSU
1000 S. ZEEB ROAD
EAST LANSING, MI 48824

MSU
1000 S. ZEEB ROAD
EAST LANSING, MI 48824

MSU
1000 S. ZEEB ROAD
EAST LANSING, MI 48824

Other Business

VII. Superintendent's Reports/Announcements:

1. Sanitation

Sanitation is a critical component of the State's overall health and safety. The Department of Health and Human Services (DHHS) is committed to ensuring that all Marylanders have access to clean and safe environments. This includes addressing issues such as air quality, water quality, and waste management.

The Department is currently reviewing several proposals for improving sanitation services across the State. These proposals include increasing the number of public restrooms, improving the maintenance of public facilities, and implementing new waste management practices.

The Department is also working to address the issue of illegal dumping. This involves increasing enforcement efforts, as well as providing education and resources to the public to help prevent illegal dumping in the first place.

The Department is committed to continuing to work with the public and other agencies to improve sanitation services and ensure that all Marylanders have access to clean and safe environments.

The Department is currently reviewing several proposals for improving sanitation services across the State. These proposals include increasing the number of public restrooms, improving the maintenance of public facilities, and implementing new waste management practices.

The Department is also working to address the issue of illegal dumping. This involves increasing enforcement efforts, as well as providing education and resources to the public to help prevent illegal dumping in the first place.

The Department is committed to continuing to work with the public and other agencies to improve sanitation services and ensure that all Marylanders have access to clean and safe environments.

The Department is currently reviewing several proposals for improving sanitation services across the State. These proposals include increasing the number of public restrooms, improving the maintenance of public facilities, and implementing new waste management practices.

The Department is also working to address the issue of illegal dumping. This involves increasing enforcement efforts, as well as providing education and resources to the public to help prevent illegal dumping in the first place.

The Department is committed to continuing to work with the public and other agencies to improve sanitation services and ensure that all Marylanders have access to clean and safe environments.

The Department is currently reviewing several proposals for improving sanitation services across the State. These proposals include increasing the number of public restrooms, improving the maintenance of public facilities, and implementing new waste management practices.

The Department is also working to address the issue of illegal dumping. This involves increasing enforcement efforts, as well as providing education and resources to the public to help prevent illegal dumping in the first place.

The Department is committed to continuing to work with the public and other agencies to improve sanitation services and ensure that all Marylanders have access to clean and safe environments.

The Department is currently reviewing several proposals for improving sanitation services across the State. These proposals include increasing the number of public restrooms, improving the maintenance of public facilities, and implementing new waste management practices.

The Department is also working to address the issue of illegal dumping. This involves increasing enforcement efforts, as well as providing education and resources to the public to help prevent illegal dumping in the first place.

The Department is committed to continuing to work with the public and other agencies to improve sanitation services and ensure that all Marylanders have access to clean and safe environments.

The Department is currently reviewing several proposals for improving sanitation services across the State. These proposals include increasing the number of public restrooms, improving the maintenance of public facilities, and implementing new waste management practices.

The Department is also working to address the issue of illegal dumping. This involves increasing enforcement efforts, as well as providing education and resources to the public to help prevent illegal dumping in the first place.

The Department is committed to continuing to work with the public and other agencies to improve sanitation services and ensure that all Marylanders have access to clean and safe environments.

The Department is currently reviewing several proposals for improving sanitation services across the State. These proposals include increasing the number of public restrooms, improving the maintenance of public facilities, and implementing new waste management practices.

The Department is also working to address the issue of illegal dumping. This involves increasing enforcement efforts, as well as providing education and resources to the public to help prevent illegal dumping in the first place.

The Department is committed to continuing to work with the public and other agencies to improve sanitation services and ensure that all Marylanders have access to clean and safe environments.

The Department is currently reviewing several proposals for improving sanitation services across the State. These proposals include increasing the number of public restrooms, improving the maintenance of public facilities, and implementing new waste management practices.

The Department is also working to address the issue of illegal dumping. This involves increasing enforcement efforts, as well as providing education and resources to the public to help prevent illegal dumping in the first place.

